WHO ARE WE?

Local to Global Impact (LTGI) connects African freelancers to corporate clients worldwide.

We help businesses grow by providing access to Africa's unique and untapped workforce ready to work across all sectors. All our African freelancers are hired by LTGI but are working under your supervision, remotely.

This mitigates complicated formalities in the hiring process, so you can focus on the growth of your company. Moreover, our Freelancers all operate within proximity to the European timezone making it easy to delegate a task in real-time to suit your business needs.

WHY US?

It's important for us to be socially responsible in business. We believe lasting impact is achievable by providing work opportunities, therefore, we have integrated a strong focus on onboarding people from marginalized communities, giving them a chance to propel themselves out of poverty by participating in the global economy.

LTGI can also be a great option for companies from a CSR perspective. Our business model does not only change the life of our African freelancers, who get to earn up to 10 times more than they ordinarily would, but our model also has the potential to transform economies.
